A wedding business judged on beauty cannot afford a website that looks like a 2011 flyer.

That was the brief behind Habesha Celebration Events.

We built it around one idea: enquiry capture that works while the planner is mid-ceremony with no phone in hand.

Something Tsedi Catering & Events taught us:

Ask for dietary needs up front. It is a service detail that quietly closes the sale.

Two more from the same build:

- You do not always need a website. Sometimes you need one QR code that finishes the job.
- Check the calendar before you confirm, not after. Double-booking is how caterers lose reputations.

All three are in the live product, not in a slide deck. See it: <https://tsedicatering.vercel.app>
