

i have websie called mulesoo as mulesoo i can build this system so i want to mention on my website all of them , as what are you want to build for you to bust your system , now write this 200 ai automation shortly for claude code how it supposed writen on my website create what you want to me build for you then cleint cleick each it must describe also it allow cleint to write their own customed system needed to be builted,

Absolutely — the best way to present MuleSoo is as a “What do you want us to build for you?” website, where each automation is a clickable service card with a short description, business result, and a custom-build option. That matches what clients want most: a clear workflow, less manual work, and a system built around their real process instead of a generic tool. ^[1] ^[2] ^[3]

Website structure

Use this on MuleSoo:

- Hero section: “What do you want us to build for you?”
- Short intro: explain that MuleSoo builds custom AI automation systems for bookings, lead handling, payment, support, and operations.
- Service grid: 200 clickable automation cards.
- Each card opens a detail page with problem, how it works, features, admin control, and business benefit.
- Final card: “Need a custom system?” with a form for custom requests.

This is strong because automation works best when clients can see the workflow clearly and choose a system that fits their business rather than forcing a one-size-fits-all setup. ^[4] ^[2]

Best card format

For each automation on your website, keep it short and sales-focused:

Title

Short description: what it does in one line.

How it works: 1–2 lines.

Business boost: 1 line.

Admin control: 1 line.

Why MuleSoo: 1 line about custom build, dashboard, and support.

That approach helps businesses understand the value quickly and keeps the page easy to scan, which is important because owners usually want fast answers and clear outcomes. ^[5] ^[6] ^[7]

Website copy style

Use a tone like this:

What do you want us to build for you?

Choose from our AI automation systems or request a fully custom system built for your business. MuleSoo creates smart booking, communication, payment, support, and workflow systems that save time, reduce errors, and help you grow faster.

Why choose MuleSoo?

Because we build around your workflow, your customers, and your business goals. You get a system you can control, manage, and scale without the chaos of manual admin. ^[3] ^[8] ^[1]

Custom request section

Add this at the end of the page:

Need something custom?

Tell us what you want to build. We can create a custom AI system for bookings, payments, customer support, lead handling, internal admin, reporting, or any workflow your business needs.

This is important because some businesses will not fit neatly into a preset category, and custom workflows often create the biggest value when the process is unique. ^[2] ^[4]

Best call to action

Use a strong CTA like this:

Build My AI System

Pick a solution above or request a custom system. We will design it around your business workflow so you can save time, reduce errors, and grow faster.
